

Death penalty bill signing today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan planned to sign legislation today reinstating the death penalty in California for 11 kinds of murder beginning Jan. 1.

The historic bill signing ceremony was scheduled for 10 a.m. at the Marriott Hotel. Attorney General Evelle J. Younger, Sen. George Deukmejian and other outspoken advocates of capital punishment were to attend.

When the legislature passed the measure earlier this year, Reagan remarked, "The cause of justice has been strengthened. There is no telling how many lives of law abiding citizens and their families this legislation will save."

The bill by Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, would make death in the San Quentin gas chamber mandatory for these criminals:

Hired assassins; police slayers;

life term convicts who kill guards; mass and repeat murderers; train wreckers; persons who kill witnesses to crime; and persons who commit murder during rape, robbery, kidnaping, burglary or lewd acts involving children.

The legislation was in response to voter approval last November of an initiative, Prop. 17, granting lawmakers the power to restore the death penalty despite two adverse court decisions.

The California Supreme Court ruled the supreme penalty unconstitutional in February, 1972. Later the U.S. Supreme Court agreed capital punishment as then administered was unconstitutional, but indicated state legislatures could reimpose the death penalty on a mandatory basis.

Deukmejian's bill cleared the legislature on lopsided votes, 52-12 in the Assembly and 27-12 in the Senate.

Oil stand: no payment, no drilling

By DICK PRAUL
County Reporter

The State of California shouldn't allow additional oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel at a time when the state attorney-general's office hasn't been able to collect damages from the oil industry resulting from the 1969 channel oil eruption, the state lands Division was informed here at the close of public hearings on the matter in Santa Barbara.

Santa Barbara city and county authorities presented this argument in registering strong objections to oil and gas industry contentions the state Lands Commission lift its moratorium on new drilling in state tidelands leaseholds.

The state Lands Commission, which called the hearings held on the University of California, Santa Barbara, campus Thursday and Friday, had imposed the ban in the state tidelands shortly after the giant oil spill occurred early in 1969 on the federal lease of Union Oil Co. some 5½ miles offshore adjacent to state parcels.

The commission headed by State Controller Houston Flournoy, a candidate for governor, has scheduled a meeting in Sacramento Nov. 29 presumably to announce its decision after studying transcript of testimony.

Santa Barbara city attorney Barry Cappello and assistant county counsel Marvin Levine said the city and county of Santa Barbara as well as the state attorney-general's office have flatly turned down Union Oil Company's $2.5 million compromise offer to the three governmental entities in response to the combined $500 million suit originally filed.

The legal battle in federal court in Los Angeles has been prolonged by oil industry contentions it is not responsible for loss by the city, county and state of some $23 millions in tax revenues resulting from the oil spill, Cappello showed. Private compensation claims which have been paid give the mistaken impression to the public all damage claims have been compensated, he added.

Wye signal improvement proposal

Hopes for the improvement of traffic signal phasing at the Lompoc Wye advanced today as the Santa Barbara County traffic engineering committee recommended the addition of a four-phase signal.

The California Highway Patrol sought a review of the intersection's operation. The committee noted that from January, 1970 through August, 1973, there were 21 accidents reported at the intersection. Of these, 13 involved left turn vehicles and eastbound vehicles on Lompoc-Casmalia Rd.

The addition of a four-phase signal would cost approximately $2,000, and the state Division of Highways is expected to request county participation for 50 per cent of the cost.

The committee also noted that with the four-phasing, additional left turn arrows would be required on the mast arm indications for Lompoc-Casmalia Road and that revised timing of the signal, including possible use of an all red rest, should be considered.

Attorneys to file to stop Agnew investigation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's lawyer says he will file suit this week to stop the federal investigation of Agnew's alleged involvement in a Maryland kickback scheme because of the flood of news leaks about the case.

The apparent hardening of Agnew's strategy, including formation of a defense fund, came as attention re-focused on the Senate investigation of the Watergate scandal after a seven-week recess.

Agnew attorney Judah Best told UPI, "There have been an inordinate number of disclosures that would preclude the right to a fair trial."

He did not say exactly what the legal arguments would be, but indicated that the leaks violated Agnew's constitutional rights.

The Washington Post Sunday reported that the papers have already been drawn up but will probably not be filed before Wednesday.

Presidential adviser Melvin L. Laird said news stories that he had been the source of reports that Agnew was going to resign were "false."

Laird appeared on CBS' Face The Nation Sunday.

He refused to comment on last Thursday's meeting between Agnew and President Nixon, calling it "a serious matter, and one that should not be discussed by the White House staff."

Agnew supporters have contended that information damaging to the vice president has come from the White House.

Agnew spokesman J. Marsh Thomson said Sunday the formation of a defense fund to finance the case, announced by Agnew's office Saturday, "shows the kind of approach he's going to take."

He said stories that Agnew's lawyers were "plea bargaining" with the Justice Department—offering a guilty plea to a minor offense in exchange for Agnew's resignation—were not true, and that the defense fund is "an important indication of his attitude."

Moscone reveals stand

Sen. George Moscone, Democratic floor leader and one of several candidates for his party's gubernatorial nomination for governor, presented his political wares to Lompoc yesterday.

He faced newsmen in a Press Club conference in the afternoon and attended a Democratic Club dinner in his honor in the evening.

In the Press Club he called for individual effort against Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax initiative; scored those who would regulate "consenting conduct" in pornography questions; put himself on record against the state's highway trust fund concept; and championed the Brown Secret Meeting Act which requires governmental meetings to be held in public.

To implicate JFK in deaths

Hunt: fabricated cables

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House, trying to woo the Catholic vote for President Nixon in 1972, tried to prove falsely that the Kennedy administration had arranged to kill South Vietnamese President Diem in 1963, E. Howard Hunt Jr. testified today.

Hunt, one of the original Watergate bugging conspirators, was leadoff witness as the nationally televised Senate hearings on the scandal resumed after a seven-week recess.

Gaunt and pale from six months in prison, Hunt testified that he had been "directed" in 1971 by Charles W. Colson, then a special counsel to Nixon, to fabricate government cables to implicate Kennedy in the deaths of Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother-in-law, Ngo Dinh Nhu.

"I believe it was desired by Mr. Colson, or at least some of his colleagues, to demonstrate that a Catholic United States administration had in fact conspired in the assassination of a Catholic chief of state in another country," Hunt said.

Hunt, a former CIA agent and prolific spy novelist, also testified that:

—He was told by fellow bugging conspirator G. Gordon Liddy in late November 1971 that John N. Mitchell, then the attorney general and later Nixon campaign manager, "required the establishment of a large-scale intelligence, counter-intelligence program" for the campaign and that presidential assistants John W. Dean III and Jeb Stuart Magruder also "were active in its formulation."

—He believes Colson, who has vigorously denied any role in political espionage, "was aware of the overall intelligence plan" as early as January 1972.

—After the five-man Watergate bugging team was arrested June 17, 1972, Hunt went immediately to the White House and stuffed a briefcase loaded with electronic gear into a safe in the office he maintained as a $110-a-day White House consultant.

—He, Liddy and an aide to billionaire recluse Howard Hughes plotted to steal sensitive documents from Las Vegas, Nev., publisher Hank Greenspun but that the raid was never carried out.

Hunt said he believed he was acting as a secret government agent when he became involved in the Watergate plot and, nine months earlier, the burglary at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

He said he now feels "crushed by the failure of my government to protect me and my family, as in the past it has always done for clandestine agents."

The hearings resumed with the marble walled Caucus Room in the Old Senate Office Building filled to capacity. About 50 persons waited outside.

Committee staff aides described Hunt as a "transitional witness."

Astronauts packing for trip home

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 2 astronauts stuffed the accumulated booty of two months of orbital research into the close quarters of their ferry spacecraft today and made final preparations for a Tuesday afternoon splashdown off the coast of California.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma also fiddled for the final time—they hoped—with a space station systems problem prior to unhooking the Apollo ferry ship for the short trip home.

The three astronauts were expected to land at 6:20 p.m. EDT Tuesday in the Pacific Ocean 224 miles southwest of San Diego.

The weather conditions for the splashdown point were predicted to be satisfactory with 17-mile-per-hour winds, waves of five feet, 10-mile visibility and scattered clouds at 1,800 feet.

Flight controllers said Hurricane Irah, located several hundred miles south of Baja California, should pose no threat to the recovery. The storm had 85 m.p.h. winds and was moving at 11 m.p.h. toward the predicted splashdown point.

"I wonder if there's not a hurricane just to the north of our location up here?" asked Garriott as the station passed 270 miles above Baja. "It's the best developed hurricane that I think we've seen with a very clear eye."

The hurricane, which was upgraded from a tropical storm Sunday night, had 35 m.p.h. winds extending 200 miles from the center. The only problem would come if the command ship overshoot the target point by about 400 miles south which would put it in the fringe of the strong winds.

Sunday was packing day and the space fliers crammed 77,600 pictures of the sun and 18 miles of photographs of the earth into the small Apollo craft. It wasn't an easy job.

One dead, 8 hurt in accidents

One person was killed and eight other persons injured in a variety of weekend traffic mishaps, authorities reported.

Dead was Stephen Michael Smith, 19 of West Covina. The California Highway Patrol said the young man died apparently at about 1:50 a.m. Saturday when he failed to negotiate a curve while driving his motorcycle on a private road west of Los Alamos. Smith's body was not found until 7:30 a.m., or almost six hours after the mishap.

The CHP said the man left a house on the GP Ranch at about 1:50 a.m. driving his motorcycle north on the private road when it hit an embankment about 4½ miles south of Highway 135.

In an accident last Friday Alan Oldham, 15, of 4017 Polaris Ave.,

Vandenberg Village, suffered a variety of injuries including a possible broken knee in a collision of his bicycle and a car driven by Fred Wayne Goodgame, 17, of 238 St. Andrews Way.

The mishap occurred at about 2:40 p.m. in the parking lot of Cabrillo High School. Young Oldham was admitted to Lompoc Hospital.

There were two injury accidents on Sunday. Richard Guevara, 20, of San Jose and five passengers in his car suffered apparently minor injuries when their car hit a guard rail and a dirt bank on Highway 1, south of Lompoc before plunging off the road.

The others injured, all passengers in the car were Marya Avila, 13, of Buellton; Cordell Beaird, 15, of Santa Ynez; John Elliott, 15, of 1725 Cottonwood Ave., VAFB; Michael Munioz, 22, of 2310 Via Feliz, Mission Hills; Connie Zingshine, 14, of Buellton.

Only Miss Zingshine was hospitalized at Lompoc Hospital. The others were treated and released.

As a result of a second accident on Sunday, Calvin M. Dekker, 20, was treated at VAFB Hospital for minor injuries and released, but his wife, Debra K. Dekker, 18, was admitted to the hospital for treatment of injuries to her back and to one foot.

A Lompoc woman, Bonnie Dean Degueyter, 23, of 524 North M St., Apt. B, crawled unhurt from her small foreign car Friday after it flipped over on H Street following a collision with a car driven by Nancy Estelle Gabel, 21, of Santa Maria.

Kissinger calls on UN to abandon bickering

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today the United States "seeks true peace, not simply an armistice," and called upon all members of the United Nations to abandon their bickering and join in a cooperative effort for a more harmonious world.

Kissinger, the first foreign-born U.S. secretary of state, made his maiden address to the U.N. General Assembly almost exactly 48 hours after being sworn into office at the White House.

Kissinger's speech was a broad philosophical outline of "the spirit of American foreign policy" in which he pledged U.S. efforts and influence in settling such regional issues as the Middle East and Southeast Asia, but he made no specific pledges beyond promising that the United States would not abandon its traditional allies in carrying out its policy of detente with the Soviet Union and China.

Kissinger acknowledged that the U.S. people and government "have sometimes been disappointed because this organization has not been more successful in translating the hopes for universal peace of its architects into concrete accomplishments."

While he has in the past generally been scornful of the ability of the United Nations to deal with major political issues in a troubled world, Kissinger said that "despite our disappointments, my country remains committed to the goal of a world community.

We will continue to work in this Parliament of Man to make it a reality."

The secretary of state expressed continuing satisfaction over the successes of American diplomacy in dealing with Moscow and Peking, and also spoke with gratification of the tension-easing efforts of the two Germans and North and South Korea.

The world must decide,

Kissinger said, this fateful question: "Are we prepared to accept the imperatives of a global society and infuse our labors with a new vision? Or, shall we content ourselves with a temporary pause in the turmoil that has wracked our century....?"

While declaring the United States would never make a deal with Russia or China to try to dominate the world, Kissinger warned against the neutral nations forming their own bloc.

"Others suspect the emergence of a two-power condominium. And as tension between the two original blocs has eased, and the third grouping increasingly assumes the characteristics of a bloc of its own—the alignment of the non-aligned."

Trustees to discuss enrollment

The Trustees of Lompoc Unified School District tomorrow will note reassuring gains in enrollment as they deal with a variety of educational questions.

Total school enrollment rose about 600 students from a low point of 11,338 students on Sept. 4, opening day, to 11,931 on Sept. 18, the tenth day of the fall term. Assistant School Supt. Alice Milligan had originally projected 11,779 students for purposes of budgeting, but those figures were a decline from the 12,300 students who would normally be on hand based on statistics in June.

The meeting is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. in the Central Administration Building, 1301 North A St.

Other agenda business includes:

— Further consideration of trustee Gail Steiger's proposal for an indepth study of space and financial resources in the light of declining enrollment.

— Further consideration of trustee Richard K. Jacoby's remarks on the possible joint schools-library effort to construct a branch library in Vandenberg Village.

Requests for interdistrict attendance agreements for 10 students.

Motel decision appealed by opponents

Opponents have appealed a conditional use permit granted Dixie Court Motel by the Lompoc Planning Commission.

That fact will be noted tonight by the commission as it considers whether to supply the Lompoc City Council with additional information setting forth the reasoning behind the granting of the permit.

Sam Fox proposes to refurbish 10 motel units at 820 E. Ocean Ave., and convert them to apartment use.

Opponents have argued that the use was not proper in the parcel's Convenience Center (CC) zoning.

The commission voted 5-1 to grant the permit on the grounds that it was the only clear cut way of getting some improvement on the site.

Drilling hearing—

Spokesmen for 15 major oil companies involved in production of tidelands leases called upon the commission to end the moratorium so the industry can help the current energy crisis.

Western Oil and Gas Association and the Independent Oil and Gas Producers of California, claimed the industry now has full safety and cleanup capability to augment stiff new state offshore regulations.

The U.S. Coast Guard oil strike team for the Pacific Coast has trained personnel to deal with oil spills and is currently testing new oil containment and recovery systems regarded as "highly promising," said Lt. Cmdr. John Wieckert, whose office is on Yerba Buena Island, San Francisco area.

The hearing also produced testimony from the Sierra Club, Audubon Society, GOO (Get Oil Out) Inc., of Santa Barbara, and other environmentally-minded groups calling for continuance of the moratorium. Supporting them were the area's state legislative representatives, State Sen. Robert Lagomarsino, R., Ventura, and Assemblyman W. Don MacGillivray, R., Santa Barbara.

The gist of their testimony was that proof is still lacking that the industry or the Coast Guard can handle major channel oil spills without great destruction to the environment.

Cambodia launches offensive

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian troops went on the offensive on all four sides of Phnom Penh today and in at least one instance caught rebels flatfooted in an ambush inside insurgent territory.

The supply situation in Phnom Penh brightened as a river convoy was reported steaming toward the capital up the Mekong River. Trouble hit the convoy, however, about halfway to Phnom Penh, port authorities said, when insurgents succeeded in setting one of the three freighters afire. The rest of the convoy, consisting of five tankers and a barge, were able to escape damage.

There also was increased government activity in the northwestern province of Battambang, cut off from the rest of the country when insurgents cut Highway 5 earlier this month. Although details were scarce, Col. Am Rong, High Command spokesman, confirmed that there was increased fighting in Battambang, a province which supplies Cambodia with much of its rice.

In Kompong Cham, the besieged provincial capital 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, the situation was relatively calm.

Yom Kippur is the holiest day of the Jewish year. The day is observed by a complete 24-hour fast beginning at sundown Oct. 5 to sundown Oct. 6. At the conclusion of Yom Kippur, the congregation will gather at the Base Chapel Annex for a break-the-fast celebration.

Assembly lines rolling again

DETROIT (UPI) — The assembly lines at Chrysler Corp. began to roll again today as the shortest national strike in the history of the United Auto Workers came to an end.

The nine-day strike against the smallest of the "Big Three" automakers officially ended Sunday when the UAW announced that its rank-and-file membership overwhelmingly approved a new three-year contract.

With 38 out of 42 Chrysler production and maintenance locals counted, the vote was 103,907 in favor of the new pact and 16,260 opposed.

The new contract, which the UAW hopes will set the pattern for negotiations with Ford and General Motors, limits mandatory overtime and offers a company-paid dental plan beginning in the second year.

It also provides for full retirement benefits after 30 years on the job and salary boosts of five per cent in the first year and three per cent in the second and third years.

Although most of the UAW's 127,500 Chrysler workers returned to work today, both Chrysler and the union said it will be a day or two before all 85 Chrysler plants in the U. S. and Canada are rolling at full capacity.

Take a choice: director or dictator

By STAN TULLEDO
Feature Editor

Being a director is like being a dictator. You can't argue with either.

Still it's not an easy job. Directing is a complex, demanding task requiring a knowledge of all aspects of theater production.

Fred Nachman, director of Lompoc Civic Theater's "Never Too Late" opening Friday, has acquired a good share of theater knowledge in the last ten years. It started in Germany where he was stationed in the Air Force.

"Over there, there isn't too much to do so my wife decided she wanted to join a theater group. The next thing I knew I was in it," began Nachman.

He worked in lighting, make-up, and stage managing on such plays as "South Pacific," "Romanoff and Juliet," and "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." Eventually, he served as the musical director in a production of "Oklahoma," "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," and other musicals. Then he ventured into stage directing.

"I started directing," he said, "when they ran out of directors." (a habitual problem of community theaters.)

His directorial credits there included "Blithe Spirit," "Rest, Ye Merry Gentlemen," and "Complaining Angels."

In 1965, Nachman was reassigned to Vandenberg

Air Force Base. He joined The First Nighters and later the Valley Playhouse, two local theater groups now disbanded, and directed "Harvey," "Mystery of the Whispering Bell," and "No, No, A Million Times No." There were others.

Nachman describes himself as a director never satisfied with a production.

"If you are ever satisfied, you'll wind up with a mediocre show," he believes. "Even after the last performance, I see things that could have been corrected."

Not now a LCT member, he is guest directing "Never Too Late," a comedy like "All in the Family" and "Maude" rolled into one.

But he could also be called a guest teacher.

The cast began rehearsing five days a week Aug. 13. Nachman figures he spends four hours a night on rehearsals. During weekends, he helps on set construction.

In addition, he is training or helping to train members of this production in lighting, costuming, make-up and stage managing, putting to use all that past theater experience.

There have been the normal production problems with "Never Too Late." Three cast members were replaced - one had too many commitments, one moved out of town, and one took a part-time job.

Another problem was building a simple stairway. Only in the theater a stairway isn't a simple matter.

This one had to hold the combined weight of three vigorous players. It had to contain a closet and fit into a crowded set with a sofa and two arm chairs, coffee table, dining room table with a chair, desk with arm chairs, telephone table, plus a bathtub and toilet which are brought on stage during some zany action, surely.

Nachman also assisted in the set design.

But that's what it means to be a director. He must be a designer organizer, technician, critic, and teacher. And with such a burden, he must be his own best friend, as are dictators.

No more ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cigarette shaped cigars will no longer be advertised on television or radio under legislation signed by President Nixon Saturday.

The bill amended the 1965 Cigarette Labeling and Advertising Act, to include banning commercials for little cigars, judged by the Public Health Service to be as dangerous as cigarettes if the smoke is inhaled.

The legislation bans broadcast advertising of any roll of tobacco wrapped in leaf tobacco or any substance containing other than cigarette tobacco which weighs not more than three pounds per thousand units.

THE BETTER HALF

Increase expected in voters

By the time the registration period for the Nov. 6 election closes on Oct. 7, Howard C. Menzel, assistant county clerk, estimated that there will be at least 137,000 eligible voters in Santa Barbara County.

This would be a pick-up of 10,000 voters over the last official figure.

There will be only one county-wide issue on the ballot, Gov. Reagan's tax reform constitutional amendment, but there will be 12 district and one city issues in some areas.

Menzel estimates that the cost of the county-wide election, to vote on the tax reform measure, will be $30,000. Costs for special district and city elections will be paid for by the affected agencies.

The Governor chose Nov. 6 as the date for the special state election on the tax issue because that also is the date for elections required by the State District Election Law. This law requires special districts to hold elections for district board positions on the second Tuesday of November in odd numbered years when there is more than one candidate for each ballot position.

Such elections are unnecessary when there are no contests.

Menzel reminded voters that the period in which absentee ballots can be obtained opens Oct. 9 and closes Oct. 30.

A city elections to set the term of mayor is slated in Santa Maria. Elections are planned in three water districts, Montecito, Carpinteria and Goleta, in the Santa Ynez Water Conservation District's Improvement District Number 1, and in the Montecito Fire District.

Other elections are scheduled in the Hope Ranch Fire Protection District, College and Guadalupe Union School Districts, Santa Maria Public Airport District, Embarcadero Municipal Improvement District, and Los Alamos Community Service District.

Menzel said there will be 145 consolidated precincts.

Probe of Nixon's finances

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Times said Sunday that an investigation of President Nixon's personal finances turned up evidence that $803,213 in undisclosed funds used to finance his private homes probably came from paying little or no income taxes, and not from campaign money.

White House accounts of the real estate transactions show that Nixon spent $392,521 in personal funds for his Key Biscayne, Fla., property and $1,200,692 for his San Clemente, Calif., home.

"Of this total of $1,593,213 spent by the President, it is possible to locate the source of only $790,000, which Mr. Nixon borrowed, including $625,000 from Robert H. Abplanalp, the millionaire industrialist," the Times said. The White House has said a part of this loan was eventually assumed by C.G. Rebozo, another presidential friend.

Food expert's warning

SEATTLE (UPI) — An many as 50 million persons could starve during the next year in Asian and African nations unless world leaders take steps to end a grain shortage, according to a food expert.

Dr. Roy L. Prosterman Sunday urged President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to become directly involved in solving the problem of a grain shortage.

"The world grain crisis, in which millions of human beings face starvation over the next 12 months if something isn't done fast, must be taken out of the hands of narrowly focused bureaucrats and placed into the hands of international statesmen and world leaders," he said.

Prosterman is a University of Washington law professor who is regarded as a leading authority on land reform and food problems in developing countries.

He said there was broad international agreement on the fact of grain shortages in specific areas, including the drought belt in West Africa, India, Indonesia, Pakistan and Bangladesh.

Prosterman disagreed with Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz who said wheat available for export will be just about equal to the import demand at prevailing price levels.

"The 'Catch 22' in that statement is in the four word, 'at prevailing price levels.' None of these nations by any stretch of reality could meet the prevailing price level of $5 a bushel," he said.

Conference theme announced

"Planning the Environment" is the theme of the annual conference of the California County Planning Commissioners Assn. to be held Oct. 17-20 at the Santa Barbara Biltmore Hotel, it was announced by Robert C. Lilley, of Lompoc, association president.

Lilley, who is a member of the Santa Barbara County Planning Commission, said reports will be heard on how regional and state land use controls are working.

Also on the agenda will be a review of how the environmental "Friends of Mammoth" decision has affected California counties; and a report from a Russian planning expert on how planning is carried out in the Soviet Union.

Lilley said women accompanying their husband-planners will be given a tour of the area's flower fields and nurseries, and will have another day to shop in Solvang.

Never gave up hope for missing son

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (UPI) — "It was a strain," the father said, "knowing they were out there and not knowing if they had food or water."

Charles Fisher said Sunday night that hope never waned in his household that his missionary son, James, 26, would return alive from a nightmare at sea.

Today the Fishers' son is heading home, a survivor of 72 days in the Pacific clinging to capsized trimaran and living off sardines, peanut butter and rainwater.

Fisher and Robert Tinineko, of Longview, Wash., were found alive in the upside down craft Friday 900 miles southwest of San Francisco by the British freighter Benalder. The two survivors were reported in "remarkably good shape" by the Coast Guard.

The freighter planned to drop the men off at Miway Island today and continue to the Far East. The pair will then be flown to Honolulu and San Francisco.

The survivors told rescuers that Tininenko's wife, Linda, 24, had died a month earlier.

The three had set out July 2 from Seattle for a trip to Central America, where Fisher was to do missionary work as a Seventh Day Adventist. They were last heard from July 11 in a message to the Coast Guard that all was well.

An hour after that message, the 31-foot homemade sailing vessel capsized in heavy winds. A five-day search of the area failed to find them.

The Fisher family learned of their son's rescue later than most people. They had accidentally left the telephone off the hook Friday night and the Coast Guard couldn't reach them. However, relatives who watched the late television news soon showed up.

Sauzek-Wittmann vows exchanged

Newlyweds enlist in the U.S. Army

The bride and groom will be stationed at Fort Ord with the United States Army following their honeymoon in San Diego. Exchanging their marriage vows Saturday afternoon, Sept. 8, in a home garden ceremony were Miss Kay Lynn Sauzek and Thomas Charles Wittmann. Officiating was the Rev. William Denton of First Christian Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sauzek, 4152 Sirius, Vandenberg Village. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wittmann, 253 Antares.

White crepe fashioned the Grecian wedding gown designed by the bride's sister, Sheila Nicholson of Camarillo who served as honor matron. A bracelet made from an antique watch chain of her paternal grandfather was the traditional something old. Something borrowed were coral earrings and a diamond and pearl necklace. Something blue was her bridal garter and her mother placed an English farthing in her shoe.

The bridegroom's jacket was made by his bride. Serving him as best man was his brother William Wittmann.

Assisting at the wedding reception were Sue Buxton, great-aunt of the bride; Judy Sauzek, her sister-in-law; Sheila Nicholson, her sister; Margrethe Layman and Claudia Stratford. Accents of yellow daisies, porcelain doves and kissing angels marked the all-white wedding decor. Features of the angel figures resembled those of the bridal couple.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Sauzek wore a long gown of pink polyester and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a long polyester print in black, white and yellow and a white orchid corsage.

Both the bride and groom are June graduates of Cabrillo High School.

Dear Abby

Living Will foe takes Abby to task

DEAR ABBY: I was alarmed when I read an item in your column encouraging your readers to send for "A Living Will," instructing one's clergyman, physician, attorney, and some appointed family members (or friends) to let him die with dignity when all agreed that death was inevitable. I failed to write at the time to express my horror. But now that I hear that you were responsible for distributing hundreds of thousands of these Living Wills, I can no longer remain silent.

Mercy killing is an unspeakable evil, and our country must not permit such a crime. We should respect the gift of life and preserve and protect it. The plea that it would be "merciful" to end a life should signal a second look to be sure the desire did not stem from the weariness of the persons caring for (and paying for) the one who is ill.

Suffering is difficult to watch, but it oftentimes leads a person to a deeper awareness of his human destiny. It builds strength and character.

I am sorry to see you pushing this Living Will so hard. You have millions of readers and could be a force for good instead of this type of thing.

People should trust in God, and let HIM decide when life should end. Who would YOU trust to decide when ABBY shall die?

You have given the Living Will enough publicity. Please, be fair, and print this to show the other side.

AGE 64
IN ALBUQUERQUE

DEAR 64: The Living Will is simply a document instructing my OWN clergyman, physician, lawyer, and selected members of my family (or even a few trusted friends) to allow me to die when they all agree that there is no hope for my recovery (physical or mental). I am not saying that YOU, or anyone else should express this wish. I am saying that this wish is MINE, and I would hope that those who love me would respect my wishes. This doesn't suggest that I be "killed." It simply means that I do not want my life to be prolonged by artificial means when my physicians agree that all hope for life is gone, or should I lose my sense of reason.

ENGAGEMENT of Miss Constance Cecilia (Ceci) Lewis to Sgt. Lawrence Paul Hancock has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lewis. She is now employed at Rasco. Her fiancé graduated from Lincoln High School (Neb.) and is currently stationed at Vandenberg Air Force Base. A spring wedding is planned by the couple.

Jim: "Is it true that the Eastern bridge establishment didn't get around to using Blackwood until several years after it had swept the West?"

Oswald: "I was an Easterner then and we didn't take kindly to the idea that someone from Indiana would develop a better convention than we had. I am probably the first Easterner to start using it and I know I am the first oldtime expert to admit the existence of Easley Blackwood and his excellent convention."

Jim: "Knowing you, I also assume that you were the first man to start modifying it."

Oswald: "It may be so. The first Blackwood modification was to use the five-club response to show no aces or four aces. It seemed that anyone could tell which holding was being shown. It also seemed that when five clubs showed four aces there was room to ask for kings."

Jim: "Today's hand which I made up illustrates how this works. South checks for aces and finds that North holds all four. He checks for kings; finds North has the missing one and bids seven no-trump with surety of success."

Oswald: "They might get there without this modification but it was a cinch with it."

Wyland Fuller, principal and P.T.A. parliamentarian, introduced the teachers at Los Berros.

They are: Betty Lewis and Irene Brenner, kindergarten; Evelyn Goodgame, 1st grade; Dorothy Ingamels, 1st-2nd; Bruce Shumer, 2nd; Ruth Norris, 2nd-3rd; Sonia Culmer, 3rd; Lois Wirt, 3rd-4th; Eva Black and Kristin Barr, 4th; Patricia Nichols, and Tom Freeman, 5th; Madeline Merlino, 5th-6th; David Manship and Julie Davies, 6th; and Frances Ghelker, reading specialist.

Other faculty members are: Wyland Fuller, principal; Shirley Leonard, secretary; Thelma Vermillion, nurse; Virginia McPeck, librarian; Jeannete Singleman, library aide; Delena Gnesa, lead custodian; and Paul Earls, custodian.

Refreshments of coffee and cookies were served by Julie Davies, who was provided with cookies by mothers of the kindergarten students. A decision was made to sell burritos and chips at lunch time periodically during the school year.

The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine (C.C.D.) classes at Queen of Angels Catholic Church, 3495 Rucker Road, are being organized. Parents wishing to enroll their school-age children are asked to do so in the church hall.

New students and those who have not previously shown baptismal certificates are asked to bring them at that time.

C.C.D. classes are scheduled to start Wednesday, Sept. 26 in the church hall.

A Women's religious Retreat is scheduled for the weekend of October 12. Ladies who are interested may contact Bunny (Mrs. Carl) Thorstad (3-1605) or Anne Hall (3-2397) of Queen of Angels Church.

During the month of October, Parishioners at Queen of Angels Catholic Church may have a Mass said in their homes. The Rev. Father Peter McGee will conduct a Home Mass once a week, Monday through Thursday, for those parishioners wishing to have one. Interested persons may call the rectory at 3-2735.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Mission Hills Community Council, Bob Keeping, president, formally resigned. The reason for his resignation, Keeping explains, is that his long working hours as a security officer don't leave enough time to carry on the numerous tasks the presidency involves. Keeping has served as president of the M.H. Council since March. Previous to that, he was vice-president for a year, president of the Teen Club or a year, and was instrumental in the development and supervision of the Mission Hills Father's Patrol.

Keeping wants to thank all residents who lent their support during his various offices with the Council. Especially, he thanks Anne Johnson who served as both secretary and treasurer during the past few months, due to a lack of volunteers.

Two other resignations were presented Tuesday night those of Anne Johnson and Bob Cunningham, leaving Ron Kennedy, vice president the only existing board member. Kennedy thus became president and named others to serve as temporary officers until a general election can be scheduled. Acting as vice-president was Bill Holmes; treasurer, Barbara Kennedy; corresponding secretary, Wally Bench; recording secretary, Jeanie Dimock.

A group of 45 people were in attendance. In addition to those already named were: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Allan D. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pritchard, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burnett, and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Fortier.

Also present were the H. G. Kluge family, Marilyn Plummer, Loyd Brookshier, Claire Christensen, William Carlson, Liz Andersen, Peggy Moore, Marian Albert, R. Zaccagnino, Betty Bench, Daphne Winkle, Dawn Jimenez, Kell Blake, Richmond Carl, Mrs. Edward Dover, Brenda Magalong, Margie Speicher, Elmer Johnson, John Schneider, and Kitty Schneider. Some attending chose to remain anonymous.

Suzie (Mrs. Richard) Lee, 3478 Via Arnez, telephoned this editor previous to the meeting, stating that her interests, were divided for the evening, because Los Berros P.T.A. was holding its first general meeting the same night. Many other residents, undoubtedly, felt the same way. Steps are being taken by Ron Kennedy, Council president, to avoid this dilemma in the future.

On Tuesday, Sept. 25th, all students at Los Berros will be able to watch the Robin Hood Players production of "Rob Roy."

This P.T.A. — sponsored event features Bill Silverman's Robin Hood Players, whose origin is Scottsdale, Ariz. Director Silverman is interested in the educational and creative advancement of today's children.

Written by Sir Walter Scott and adapted by Richard Herlon, "Rob Roy" is the tale of a Scottish Robin Hood, Rob Roy McGregor.

Serving as playground aides at Los Berros are Joy Dodson, Nancy Daggett and Daphne Winkle.

Interested students may learn how to play a wide variety of musical instruments including violin, viola, cello, oboe, clarinet, saxophone, trumpet, tuba, drums, flute and many more. If in doubt as to which instrument to learn, Asbury will help. He will also inspect instruments and advise on their condition.

Instruction is free, but each student must provide his own instrument and music books. Music stores may be consulted on musical instruments which parents may choose to rent on a trial-purchase plan.

James Arneson, speech therapist, is at Los Berros Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Russell Cross, school psychologist, is present at the school all day Monday of each week. Parents with questions may wish to call the school office (3-3511) during these times to consult with either.

Kell and Arthur Blake, 3573 Via Gala, announce the Good News Club will begin in their home Saturday Sept. 22. Open to children between the ages of 6-14 years, children will be taught how to accept Christ as their personal Savior. Session time is 11 a.m. each Saturday.

A total enrollment of 447 students at Los Berros means that one teacher had to be sacrificed because of the student-teacher ratio authorized by law. As a result the primary grades had to be re-shuffled, and former teacher Gene Doud has been transferred to Buena Vista Elementary School in Vandenberg Village.

No problems despite gas shutdown

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Because drivers voluntarily stayed home, Northern California escaped serious trouble in spite of a shutdown of gasoline stations during the weekend.

Neither the California Highway Patrol nor the California Automobile Association reported any serious difficulties Sunday although the overwhelming number of the area's stations were closed by their operators in protest to price controls.

The CHP said that only about half the usual number of cars traveled the Golden Gate Bridge, the Sonoma County sheriff's office reported "almost no traffic" in the Russian River resort area and in Humboldt County the sheriff's office noted "far, far less weekend traffic on Highway 101."

Protesting operators are expected to reopen their stations Tuesday.

During the shutdown, stations operated by petroleum firms remained open, although some of these rationed gas.

Business continued brisk over the weekend at Lake Tahoe gambling resorts and bus lines reported an upsurge in passengers.

So complete was the shutdown that the automobile association said there were only 25 stations open in San Francisco, only five in Oakland and only three in Daly City.

Bombing starts major search

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Army troops launched a massive, apartment-by-apartment search through a half-mile-square section of downtown Santiago Sunday after a powerful bomb exploded near the U.S. Consulate.

The troops reported arresting 50 persons, silencing an underground radio station and burning hundreds of leftist books and pamphlets in the raid.

The army said most of the persons arrested were foreigners, mainly Bolivians and Dominicans. Scattered rifle shots were heard in the city center Sunday night as army tanks clanked into position in the curfew-cleared downtown area.

The search through the fashionable area near the city center began before dawn shortly after a bomb exploded near the consulate. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said there were no injuries or damages to the building.

Soldiers smashed down doors of luxury apartments in their sweep to wipe out resistance to the junta that overthrew President Salvador Allende's three-year Marxist government Sept. 11.

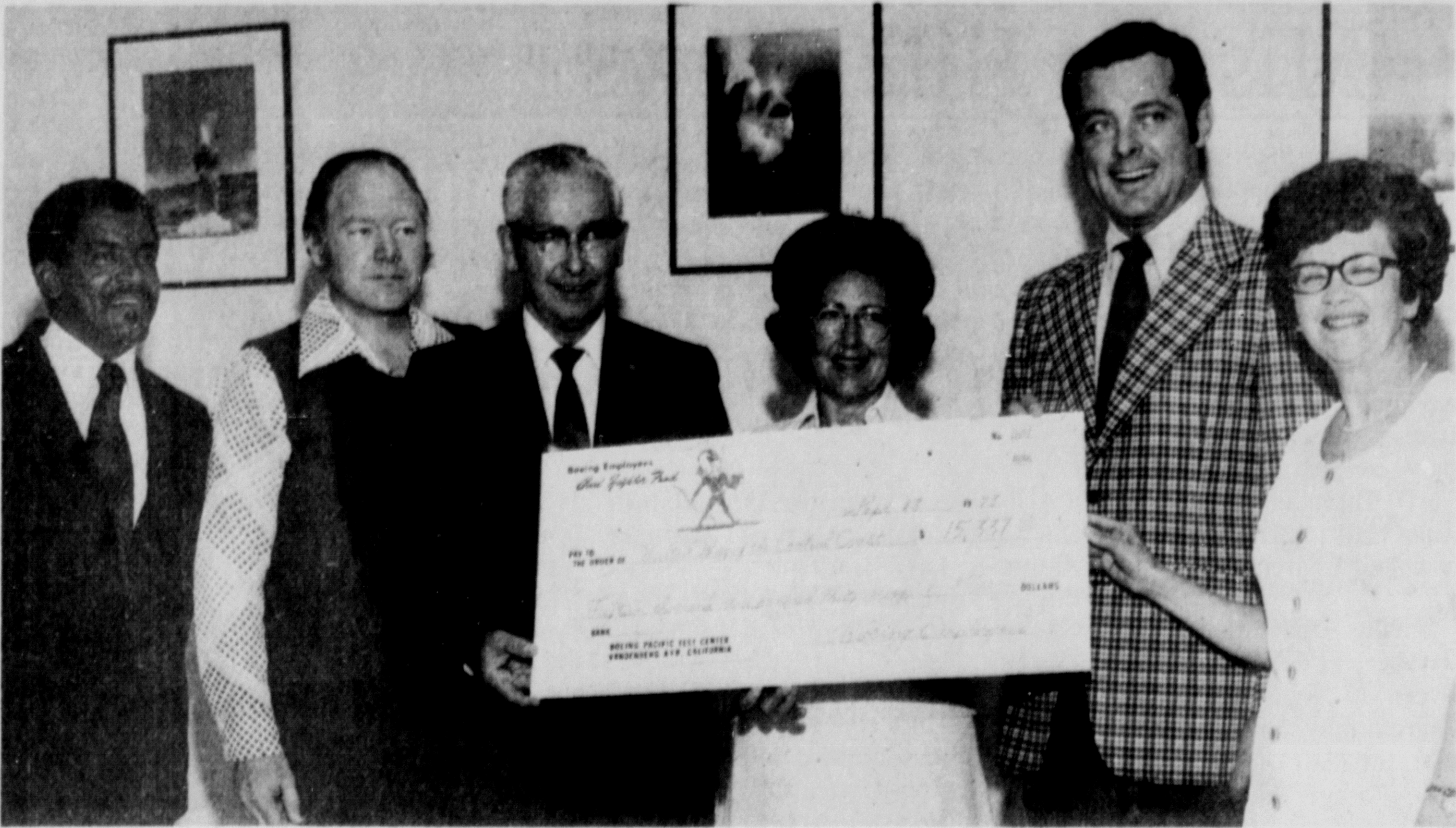

FDA ban on vitamins A, D

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Beginning a week from today— unless the courts intervene—it will be illegal to buy massive doses of vitamins A and D without a prescription.

Heavy doses of vitamins are favored by some health food advocates, and many health food stores sell them.

But the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), which is imposing the new ban, says the large doses are "clearly dangerous" unless taken under a doctor's supervision.

FDA says too much vitamin D can cause retarded mental and physical growth in children, and too much vitamin A can lead to pressure on the brain that can mimic the symptoms of a brain tumor.

HOMER RICKMAN, chairman of the Boeing Employees Good Neighbor Fund Committee at Vandenberg AFB, presents a check for $15,337 to Shirley LeBeau, chairman of the Aerospace Contractors United Way Campaign Drive at VAFB. This check represents the combined totals of $10,533.50 to the United Way of the Central Coast and $4,803.50 to the Lompoc Valley United Fund. In addition to this initial contribution, a total of $13,337 will be distributed to eleven local agencies. Also on hand for the presentation, left to right, are Ed Parker, trustee BEGNF; Ted Laugen, treasurer BEGNF; Rickman; LeBeau; Allen Burke, general chairman of the United Way of the Central Coast, and Bernie Frisby, secretary BEGNF.

Moving out, little by little

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Little by little, the historic golden-domed west wing of the Capitol is being vacated in preparation for locking the doors to everyone except senators and assemblymen.

Only a few tenants have moved out of the 104-year-old structure despite a Sept. 15 deadline for emptying the Capitol. Now the target date is Dec. 1.

The legislature's Joint Rules Committee ordered evacuation after two studies concluded that the building could not withstand even a moderate earthquake.

When the move is completed officials will lock the west wing's heavy wood and glass doors, leaving the building empty for at least five years— except for the two legislative chambers.

The lawmakers decided they will continue to meet in the chambers in spite of the earthquake peril. But everyone else in the historic building must go.

Many state officials—including Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., Legislative Counsel George Murphy and Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post—are moving to the new Park Executive building across from the Capitol.

The legislature alone will be renting more than 100,000 square feet of office space in privately-owned Sacramento buildings at monthly rent of more than $53,000.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, a declared candidate for the 1974 GOP gubernatorial nomination, will move into space in the newer east wing of the Capitol being vacated by Gov. Ronald Reagan's staff.

Because the public may not be permitted to enter the legislative chambers, staff aides are working on a plan to provide closed-circuit television of the two chambers.

Peron president in Argentina again

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Juan Domingo Peron, the aging symbol of strongman rule in South America, piled up more than 60 per cent of the vote Sunday to regain Argentina's presidency 18 years after he was ousted in a military coup.

The 77-year-old Peron, who served as president from 1946 to 1955, scored a landslide victory over a four-man field, winning more than twice the votes of his closest rival.

Peron collected 61.5 per cent of the vote, nearly matching Argentina's greatest presidential victory margin in 1951 when he defeated a five-man field with 62.4 per cent.

Jubilant followers of "El Lider" went on a night-long spree of horn-honking, chanting and singing to celebrate the charismatic Peron's return to power after nearly two decades of enforced exile.

Thousands of young supporters filled the Plaza de Mayo in front of the Casa Rosada presidential palace in the heart of Buenos Aires chanting, "Peron! Peron! Peron!"

Peron and his wife, Isabel, 40, his vice presidential running mate, will be inaugurated Oct. 12 to fill out the unfinished four-year term of resigned President Hector Campora. 1,436,446 (12.29 per cent) and Juan Carlos Coral of the Socialist Workers Party 185,921 (1.59 per cent). A fraction of one per cent were void ballots.

Official results with more than 97 per cent of the polling places counted gave Peron and his Justicialist Liberation Front 7,183,390 votes (61.48 per cent), Ricardo Balbin of the Radical Civic Union 2,866,780 (24.53 per cent), Francisco Manrique of a center-right coalition

Army plans new nerve gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army plans to produce a new kind of nerve gas, composed of two relatively harmless chemicals which become lethal only after they are fired in an artillery shell and mix together on their way to a target.

The United States has renounced the use of nerve gas and other chemical weapons, but maintains a "deterrent stockpile" in case another country uses them first.

First word of the Army decision came Sunday.

Letters to the editor

Dear Sir (and Lompocans):

I've been back from Florida about a month now and am happy about it. Everyone greets me and tells me how glad they are to have me back. I'll never leave again that's for sure.

In Florida it seemed so strange to go into the stores and not recognize anyone. And no one says "Hello" to strangers like they do here in Lompoc. I've even had people stop me either while I'm walking or on my bike to say hello and tell me they are glad I'm back again. They know me either personally or by my letters I wrote to the editor. No mosquitos, no swamps, just pretty flowers, hills and best of all — friendly people.

I am truly happy to be back and all settled down again. I really do like Lompoc. Love to all of you.

Waunita Brown

Dear Sir:

Back in Lompoc following months in the Veterans Hospital, Brentwood, I will be returning to my home at 612 North D St. November 1.

I should like to thank all my kind friends in Lompoc for their cards, their helpful prayers and thoughts during my hospital stay. Especially do I wish to thank Evelyn Litzinger of the Welfare Department who was so generously gracious.

Mrs. Katherine Mary DeLay

Dear Sir:

On Friday, September 14, 1973, the Lompoc Kiwanis Club held its annual "Operation Drug Alert." The contributions received are distributed to various local programs such as "We T.I.P.," "Hot Line," drug abuse programs, etc.

This year's program is considered to be the most successful yet. This would not have been possible without the total support of our community. We wish to pay special recognition to several individuals and groups who helped to make this program the success

FUNNY BUSINESS

Courthouse column

By Dick Praul

Who owns the water in county water basins — some of which might be depleted before long?

Do the county water districts have the right to appropriate and collectively dispense that water — including surplus ground supply?

Or do overlying landowners have certain paramount interests so that they can drill wells and set up small private systems to supply certain types of commercial and housing projects despite water district moratoriums?

The questions — which may or may not be resolved by the Board of Supervisors this year — are due to surface again when the county supervisors get a report on legal and other aspects of the controversy Nov. 12. They have instructed the county counsel, county water consultant and County Citizens Advisory Committee to submit advice, recommendations and further data at the time.

There seems little chance of an armistice being negotiated in the current explosive water fight. Prospects of court action are already being voiced by attorneys on behalf of landowner clients who are currently stymied from carrying out developments on the South Coast due to water rationing and water hookup bans.

The joint report of Supervisors James M.

By Roger Bollen

Abbott and Hatch are said to feel that the county counsel's office has not conclusively answered to the query of who owns the ground water under private property.

In their view, the landowners ostensibly have the prime rights to water beneath them if they can lift it out in accord with health regulations, and the district is seen as trespasser, possibly only having a right to water under district lands.

Another key issue, according to opponents of the joint report, concerns the recommendation the Board of Supervisors inform the county health officer not issue small water system permits in South Coast water basins because the county "cannot guarantee a continuous supply of pure, wholesome, potable and healthful water" due to rationing.

Opponents claim the county cannot take a stand at this time, that it can't guarantee a potable water supply to new private water system operators in areas where ground water surplus is known, or safe yield not utilized.

Goleta water district currently is rushing a well-drilling program to appropriate water to utilize its annual safe yield figure. This may be carried out before the dispute is resolved by the supervisors or gets to the courts.

Before a Gas Co. serviceman is ready to face you he has to face himself.

As a customer, you expect our servicemen to know what they're doing.

At the Gas Company, we expect more than that: we expect them to let you know that they know what they're doing.

So at our Customer Services Training Center, we now give our men the chance to see themselves as they really are.

On videotape.

And if you've ever been surprised at the sound of your own voice on a tape recorder, you can imagine what it's like when there's a picture to go along with it.

The test is simple: an instructor acts like a customer, and a trainee acts like himself. Then the whole scene is played back on a screen.

For the trainee, that one picture on the screen is worth a thousand words from his instructor.

At the Gas Company, a man doesn't just learn how to handle your appliances.

With videotape training, he also learns how to handle himself.

We're investing in tomorrow.

Few jitters for Cabrillo

By STEVE LA RUE
The Cabrillo Conquistadores and the quarterback keeper overran the Pacific Grove Breakers 24-7 at Huyck Stadium Saturday night in a contest Conq Head Coach Evert Jones still described as "a typical first game" — full of errors.

Senior Kevin Drake, 6-3, 191 pound Hill signal caller, ambled into the '73 season galloping 81 yards in his first two carries, logging 136 yards in 14 carries overall (almost a 10 yard per) and scoring the Hill's first three touchdowns.

Drake also connected with 7 of 11 passes despite unsteady protection, to eat up another 68 yards, mostly with the help of receivers Dan Ellerston, Ernie Hutchinson and junior end Bill Chapin, who bounded a yard into the end zone in the third period for the Conqs' fourth TD.

Some of the errors glared, and tackling was one of them. It took the Brakers less than three minutes to post a 7-0 first quarter lead after fullback Gary Nair broke two tackles at scrimmage, another two hits six yards further and another two downfield to penetrate 61 yards into Cabrillo territory.

But Cabrillo then orchestrated a catastrophe of its own. On his second offensive play, Drake rolled out to the left, turned the corner, and wove to the right in a 46-yard scoring jaunt, breaking a tackle only feet from the end zone.

But the Gold defense was adequate. If the Breakers hadn't broken open for 92 of their 123 yard totals, they would have been yardage paupers. Of the 25 Breaker running plays, 18 of them went for 2 yards or less. 'Grove was forced to punt five times and was shoved back in two fourth-down line-back attempts.

Senior defensive tackles Stan Wendland and Mike Sherman emerged as the Hill stick kings, along with junior linebacker Kirk Dalton, who also snagged a third period interception and ran it back 20 yards to the Breaker 24 to set up Cabrillo's fourth score four plays later, on Chapin's carry.

Cabrill still trailed 7-6 going into the second frame. The first of a trio of blown two-point conversion attempts and one wide Drake boot had failed. A 35-yard Drake keeper and a 16-yard pitchout to tailback Ernie Hutchinson though, set up the lanky quarterback's three yard right side keeper for the go ahead six points.

Fullback Tim Davis took about 40 yards worth of handoffs from Drake in the first half, but Hutchinson, who logged up a 16 and a 22-yard rambles, took over in the second half, scrambling handoffs and pitchouts for a total 60 yards in 10 carries. Some 40 yards of this came in the early third frame when Hutch and Drake traded possession in an 11-play, 60-yard drive that ended with Drake dragging defenders seven yards on a quarterback sneak and then meandering another two yards on another keeper for Cabrillo's and his own third touchdown.

But there were other chinks. Offensive guard Steve Drown was a blocking standout in a young offensive line that otherwise had its problems, as Drake was dumped several times.

A brace of completed 20-yard passes through the Cabrillo zone also levitated Jones' eyebrows, as did a 'Grove punt that bounced off safety Roland Solomon and was recovered by the Breakers, and a Drake pitchout into mid air which could have meant touchdown number four but was recovered as a fumble.

"I'm pleased with it as an opening game," Jones summed it up. "We tell the kids that they are going to make errors."

Braves happy with QB; not down despite loss

By SCOTT OSTLER
The Lompoc Braves coaching staff saw a lot of good things on the field at Huyck Stadium Friday night. The final score was not one of those good things.

Lompoc lost to the Thousand Oaks Lancers, 8-7, watching an opening half of uncanny ball control go out the window.

Braves head coach Jim Spruill seeks out the toughest pre-league opponents he can find for his team, and if losing a close game or two is the price the Braves have to pay, Spruill feels the investment will be returned later in the season.

The Lancers proved what kind of team they were by bouncing back from a first half of total embarrassment.

It was easy to spot the turning point in the game — halftime. Lompoc controlled the football for some 19 of the 24 minutes in the first half, grinding out 122 yards in 38 offensive plays. Thousand Oaks ran all of 13 plays and netted 35 yards. But despite the one-sided stats, the Braves took only a 7-0 lead to the locker room. Quarterback Dale Skidmore scored the only TD on a six-yard keeper that capped a game-opening 19-play, 65-yard drive.

The Braves did everything right in that classic three-yards-and-a-cloud-of-dust drive. They even fumbled twice and recovered both for yardage gains.

A second quarter drive, this one 66 yards in 15 plays, was stopped at the TO 17 when Skidmore was sacked for a 10-yard loss.

But what a difference a half makes. Those same Lompoc Braves couldn't manage a first down for nearly 20 minutes of the second half, and couldn't stop the Lancers from a quick five-play, 80-yard touchdown drive, ended by a 16-yard sweep by halfback Kent Rowe. TO went for the two-point conversion, as they always do, and converted on a dinky two-yard flip from Bob Emerson to Rowe.

Lancer coach Joe Howell explained what he felt was the difference in the two halves.

"We did such a poor job of tackling in the first half. They (Lompoc ballcarriers) would twist and turn and get the extra yards. We had a little talk on tackling fundamentals at halftime, and were able to hold on a little better in the second half."

Spruill saw it this way: "In the second half, they added some stunts, and they confused our guys a little."

But, as was mentioned earlier, Spruill and his aides saw plenty of things that led them to believe that it is not yet time to hang up the cleats for the season.

"We were most pleased with our quarterback," said Spruill.

Skidmore, who started the game on a late decision by Spruill, moved the team with cool precision, despite the fact that this was his first varsity action.

"He has a lot of poise. The pressure doesn't bother him. He threw the ball well. We're just real pleased."

Skidmore, a 6-0, 193-pound junior, was chosen offensive back of the game by the Lompoc coaches.

Spruill was generally happy with the offense. "We showed that we can move the ball against a real tough defense. We made some blocking mistakes, but the effort of our offensive team was outstanding. If we have the effort, we can correct the mistakes."

Guard Andy Huyck was named the outstanding offensive lineman.

They play of the defensive unit left more to be desired, according to Spruill. "We defended well against the inside run, but not so well against the option, the outside runs, and the passing. I wasn't at all pleased with the secondary."

Linebacker Dave Barthel was the Braves' outstanding defender, making tackles all over the field, helping hold the defense together when things got a little tough in the second half. Barthel was named the outstanding defensive back. Tim Hawk was chosen outstanding defensive lineman.

The Braves will host the San Marcos Royals Saturday night at Huyck Stadium.

Likes baseball, loves money

Green thoughts inspire Blue

United Press International
Both teams seem to agree that pitching will decide the American League playoff series between Oakland and Baltimore, and according to one of the key pitchers an even more important factor could be the money.

Whatever the outcome, about the only certain thing is that both clubs will have two weeks in which to think about it before opening their playoff at Baltimore on Oct. 6. The defending world champion A's clinched the Western Division title Sunday by whipping the Chicago White Sox 10-5, one day after the Orioles had certified their Eastern Division crown.

"Sure it's nice to win, but there is only one thing that's important to me and that's the money that we're going to get, win or lose," said Vida Blue, who gained his 20th victory in the A's clincher at Chicago.

"It's a business with me and I refuse to lie to all the little leaguers and try to con them. I don't love baseball, I like it. And to me baseball means money and that's all I care about."

Blue, who engaged in a well-publicized contract squabble with A's owner Charlie Finley last year, gave Oakland its third 20-game winner, following Catfish Hunter and Jim Holtzman.

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver, asked to analyze the playoff series following his club's 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers on Sunday, said, "I can sum it up for you in just a few words. There's only one subject to discuss and that's pitching. It should be a pitching series all the way."

The losing pitcher in Oakland's clinching was Wilbur Wood, his 20th loss of the season against 24 victories. This made him the first major league pitcher since Walter Johnson in 1916 to both win and lose 20 games in the same season.

There were several other individual highlights on Sunday's schedule:

—Detroit righthander Joe Coleman allowed just one hit, a fifth-inning single by Bob Montgomery, in registering his 22nd victory as the Detroit Tigers beat the Boston Red Sox 3-0, for the 15th victory in 17 meetings with Boston.

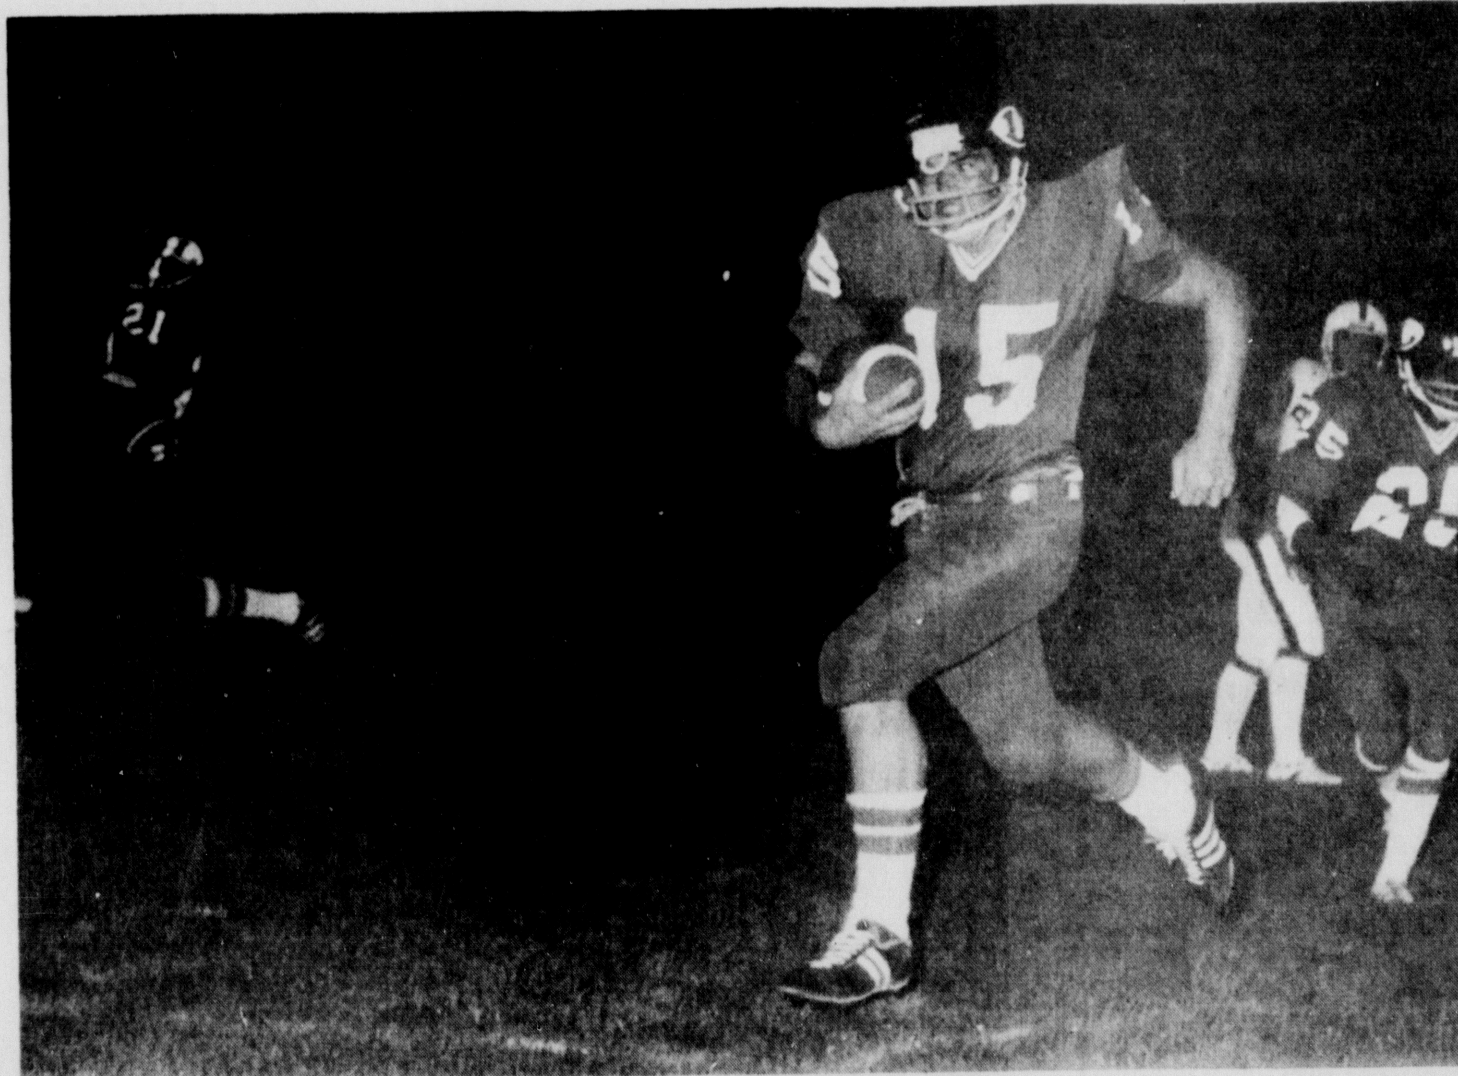

—Nolan Ryan won his 20th game for California and struck out 12 batters to close within 15 strikeouts of Sandy Koufax's single season major league record total of 382 strikeouts as the Angels bombed the Minnesota Twins 15-7. Frank Robinson and Dave Chalk drove in five runs each for the Angels.

—Ron Blomberg drove in four runs with a pair of homers and rookie Otto Velez hit his first two major league homers to power the New York Yankees to a 9-1 victory over Cleveland in the first game of a doubleheader. Reliever Lindy McDaniel then made his 906th career appearance on the mound, tying him with Cy Young for second place on the all-time list, as New York also took the nightcap 2-1.

—Tom Poquette drove in his first major league runs with a two-run double in the second inning to start the Kansas City Royals off to a 7-4 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Top 10 teams struggle

United Press International
Although most of college football's fat cats are still riding along unbeaten after the weekend that was, the aura of invincibility surrounding the top-ranked teams is beginning to vanish.

No. 1 Southern California, No. 2 Nebraska, No. 4 Alabama, and No. 9 LSU all had to struggle to keep their spotless records intact, and No. 5 Texas suddenly found itself among the have-nots after being shocked 20-15 by unheralded Miami (Fla.) on Friday night.

Only Michigan and Penn State among the top 10 teams looked like world beaters Saturday — both winning by comfortable margins, while Tennessee put together a big second half against Army to accomplish its one-sided margin of victory.

More than any other team perhaps, Southern Cal is showing itself to be only mortal. The Trojans, who disappointed their hometown backers a week earlier by beating Arkansas by only 17 points, had an equally frustrating time with Georgia Tech, winning 23-6. So who's afraid of No. 1?

Connors wins Pac Southwest

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jimmy Connors, who at 21 has become one of the youngest men ever to win the singles title of the Pacific Southwest championships, says age already has mellowed his playing.

"I play more conservatively than I used to," Connors said after outlasting Tom Okker 7-5, 7-6 Sunday to win the $75,000 championship. "I'm timing the ball and watching it more now."

Three years ago the first freshman ever to win the NCAA singles title while at UCLA, Connors had to get past veteran Pancho Gonzales and Stan Smith in the late rounds to advance to the finals.

Winning both matches on tiebreakers, he said, "I like tiebreakers."

The young Connors, making the finals for the second time in three years, broke the 29-year-old Okker's serve in the 11th game of the first set on a sizzling two-fisted backhand and then appeared to be on his way to an easy win in the second set.

Miami hits roadblock;
Jets lose Mr. Namath

United Press International
Sunday marked the end of the line for the Miami Dolphins' winning streak and possibly for Joe Namath's season.

The Oakland Raiders ended the World Champion Dolphins' dreams for another perfect season and a National Football League record for consecutive victories when 46-year-old George Blanda kicked four field goals to spark a 12-7 victory.

And unheralded linebacker Stan White of Baltimore, cruising in untouched, may have ended Namath's season when he slammed the New York Jets' star quarterback to the turf and inflicted a separated right shoulder. Al Woodall came on in relief of Namath to lift the Jets to a 34-10 romp over the Colts.

Blanda, a pro when some of his teammates were born and playing in his 300th game, spread his field goals over all four periods, kicking a 12-yarder in the first, a 46-yarder in the second, a 19-yarder in the third and a 10-yarder in the fourth. The Oakland defense completely blunted Miami's offense, the best in the NFL last season, and didn't allow a score until Bob Griese threw a 27-yard touchdown pass to Jim Mandich with 67 seconds left.

"It's been a long time since I talked to a losing team," said Miami Coach Don Shula, whose club did not lose a regulation game since the 1972 Super Bowl loss to Dallas. "They blew us out. They really took it to us. Whatever breaks they got, they forced themselves. Their linebackers were exceptional and they mixed their defenses well."

The defeat left the Dolphins tied with the Chicago Bears of 1933-34 and 1941-42 for most consecutive wins (18) including playoff games. The loss also ended the Dolphins' chance to tie the Bears' record of 17 straight regular season victories. Miami won 16 consecutive games before Sunday.

The Jets, meanwhile, were awaiting word today on the extent of Namath's injury. If surgery is necessary, Namath will miss the entire season. If not, he will be out six to eight weeks.

Woodall threw TD passes of 12 yards to Eddie Bell and one yard to Emerson Boozer and the Jets' defense intercepted a club record eight passes, four off rookie Bert Jones and four off Marty Domres. Reserve cornerback Rich Sowells had three interceptions, returning one 29 yards for a score, and Ralph Baker also had a 23-yard return for a TD.

In other NFL action Sunday, St. Louis stunned Washington, 34-27, the New York Giants tied Philadelphia, 23-23, Pittsburgh crushed Cleveland, 33-6, Green Bay tied Detroit, 13-13, Minnesota downed Chicago, 22-13, Los Angeles shut out Atlanta, 31-0, San Diego whipped Buffalo, 34-7, San Francisco outlasted Denver, 36-34, Cincinnati defeated Houston, 24-10 and Kansas City edged New England, 10-7. New Orleans is at Dallas tonight.

Donny Anderson scored three TDs and Jim Hart shredded Washington's heralded defense for 286 yards passing as the Cardinals stunned the Redskins. Anderson had two one-yard plunges and caught a 12-yard pass from Hart.

St. Louis led 24-17 when Don Shy ran a kickoff back 97 yards for a 31-17 lead. Washington's Herb Mul-Key returned the ensuing kickoff 97 yards to cut the lead to 31-24 and the teams traded field goals in the final minutes.

Pete Gogolak's 14-yard field goal as the gun sounded preserved a tie with Philadelphia for the heavily-favored Giants.

Frank Lewis caught two TD passes and Roy Gerela had four field goals as the Steelers overwhelmed Cleveland.

Chester Marcol's 24-yard field goal with 19 seconds left lifted Green Bay into a tie with Detroit and Minnesota, with Fred Cox kicking five field goals, stormed from a 10-0 deficit to beat the Bears.

John Unitas threw two TD passes and Ron Smith returned a punt 72 yards for another score as the Chargers beat San Diego and Bruce Gossett's 39-yard field goal, his fifth off the game, with 26 seconds left lifted San Francisco over Denver.

Ken Anderson's 35-yard scoring pass to Bob Trumpy and a three-yard run by rookie Charles Clark in the fourth period enabled Cincinnati to defeat the Oilers and Willie Ellison plunged one-yard for a score and Jan Stenerud kicked a 33-yard field goal as Kansas City beat stubborn New England.

Conqs 2nd in Hill
polo fest

Senior veteran Gordon McManus scored on seven of 17 attempts and Cabrillo goalie Terry Ensley knocked down two-thirds of the opposition attempts as the 1973 Hill water polo contingent placed second Saturday in the fifth annual Cabrillo Invitational Water Polo Tournament.

Dos Pueblos dunked the Conqs 15-3 in the championship game, and Lompoc surged from behind to down Ventura 8-7 in the consolation contest, after trailing the southerners 7-2 going in to the fourth period.

Cabrillo opened the affair with a 6-4 win over that same Ventura squad and an 8-5 advancement over San Marcos. Lompoc beat Arroyo Grande 6-3 in the preliminaries but fell to Santa Barbara 4-3.

Dos Pueblos' Bud Williamson was named tourney Most Valuable Player. McManus was the only valley poloist to be named to the all-tourney team. Cabrillo averaged .362 as a team shooting mark, hitting with 17 of 47 attempts. John O'Brian powered in four goals for the Hillmen and returner Chuck Younglove fired three.

Lompoc CC girls
nab trio of wins

Kerri Marshall, Maggie Knickrehm, and Sherrie Holmdahl all turned in convincing wins Saturday as the Lompoc Valley Track Club dominated races held at Ventura's Arroyo Verde Park.

Marshall won the 14-and-over race in 12:50 over hilly terrain. Cindy Tykeson was third, five seconds back. Knickrehm took first in the 12-13 2-mile run, clocking 12:56. Colleen Felley placed fourth.

Mets' fans flip;
title in the bag?

United Press International
Watching the New York Mets' relentless drive toward the National League's Eastern Division title recalls words written 2,000 years ago.

"There were many brave men before Agamemnon," wrote Latin poet Horace. "But none had a poet to sing their praises."

But this is two centuries later and the city of New York is singing the praises of Mets like Wayne Garrett, Tug McGraw and Harry Parker. The Mets' drive to first place in the NL East has turned the Big City into a nut factory, just like 1969, and the question no longer is whether the Mets will win the division title but how many games it will take them to beat the American League representative in the World Series.

Garrett, McGraw and Parker played key roles Sunday as the Mets defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-2, and went into the final week of the season with a half-game lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates gained a half game on the Mets—does it matter when New York has a 10th man watching over it up there in the sky?—when they swept the Montreal Expos, 6-3 and 7-4.

Garrett, batting .394 in September, hit a two-run, tie-breaking triple in the seventh inning. Parker pitched one-hit ball in middle inning relief to pick up his eighth victory against three losses. And then McGraw came on to shut out the Cardinals for the last three innings for his 23rd save. McGraw, ineffective in the early season going, has recorded four victories and 10 saves in his last 14 appearances, a perfect performance.

The Los Angeles Dodgers postponed the Cincinnati

Reds' Western Division clinching with a 6-4 victory over them, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Chicago Cubs, 9-7, the Atlanta Braves downed the Houston Astros, 10-2, and the San Diego Padres outscored the San Francisco Giants, 11-9, in other NL games.

Willie Stargell, leading candidate for the NL's MVP award, hit a three-run homer to win the first game for the Pirates.

Some of the opponents of the City's efforts to ease the current sewer problems object on the grounds that such efforts will "promote growth" and thus increase population. We would suggest that there are many factors that "promote growth". Some of these are: Clean Air, Clean Water, Wide Tree-Lined Streets, Less Traffic Congestion, Uncrowded Schools, Parks, Libraries, and a Semi-Rural Life Style. Any community with these assets is bound to attract people from less favorable environments. Should we then eliminate these assets, too, in order to save them from urbanization?

Yes. How bad is New Orleans?

Long field goal
sinks Hancock;
Taft wins 10-7

A 51-yard fourth quarter field goal off the foot of Jerry Cooper broke the hearts of the Hancock Bulldogs Saturday night, as the Taft College Cougars downed the 'Dogs 10-7 in Taft.

Hancock scored on a 55-yard pass from quarterback Lee Brownell to wide receiver Dave Amido in the first period, but was unable to convert two later long drives into scores, stopping both times inside the Taft 15.

Taft answered Hancock's TD with one of their own in the first quarter, on a one-yard keeper by quarterback Mike Mayoral that capped a 64-yard drive in 15 plays.

The Bulldogs led in the statistics race, gaining 346 total yards and 17 first downs, to 170 total yards and nine first downs for Taft.

Rams blank
Atlanta
31-0

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The double-barrelled question arises: Are the Los Angeles Rams that good or are the Atlanta Falcons that bad?

The score Sunday was Rams 31, Falcons 0. The Rams now lead the National Football Conference West with a 2-0 record.

Statistics are appalling for the Falcons — quarterback Dick Shiner completed 2-of-9 passes for 17 yards net. The Falcons had two first downs to 24 for the Rams.

John Hadl completed 12-of-15 passes for 142 yards for the Rams. The Rams rushed for 209 yards on 55 plays. The Falcons had only 22 rushes and totaled 66 yards. Ram defenders were headed by Merlin Olsen in the line and Dave Elmendorf in the secondary.

Was this the same Falcon team that beat New Orleans 62-7 in the season's opener?

OPINIONS

The columns of the Lompoc Record are open to all expressions of opinion consistent with good taste and the laws.

The Record's aim is to present facts in its news columns and opinions in its editorial columns.

Jack Lewis

The Santa Barbara County Grand Jury has submitted an interim report calling for the resignation of ailing veteran County Clerk J. E. (Jack) Lewis, modernization of his office, separation of the courts section from his office and tightening of security for the clerk's files.

Jack Lewis has served with distinction as County Clerk of Santa Barbara for 37 years. An affable Lompoc native, Lewis has suffered through the massive growth of the County without serious criticism.

It is no doubt apparent that the County Clerk's office could stand modernization as with other offices in County government. To suggest, however, that modernization cannot occur while the veteran County Clerk is in office is certainly not justified. Lewis has, in the past, attempted to loosen funds from the County Board of Supervisors for such tasks but was turned down.

As for the security of the files, special precautions can easily be ordered and accomplished.

We believe further that considerable study should be given to the Jury's recommendation to split the courts section from the County Clerk's office and turn it over to the new court administrator.

As for the calling for the resignation of Lewis, we believe that Lewis has earned right through faithful elected service over the past many, many years to call his own shots at the time and place of his own choosing.

Martin F. Nolan

One-eyed kings

(Editor's Note: Marquis Childs is on a short vacation. His column is being written by Martin Nolan of United Features Syndicate).

WASHINGTON — In the valley of the blind, the one-eyed is king. That explains a lot about Melvin Robert Laird's role in the Nixon Administration.

Laird represented central Wisconsin in the state senate and in Congress for a quarter-century. Unlike Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Mitchell, unlike Kissinger, Ziegler and Haig, he had to go out and explain himself, to look people in the eye, to run for office.

But just because elective politics is considered wizardry in the White House, that does not mean that Mel Laird is as smart and sagacious as Evans and Novak say he is.

Mel Laird, in fact, can be too clever by half, manipulating the media like a mad scientist until the experiment blows up in his face and singes his Mephistophelean eyebrows.

He did that last week after President Nixon on Monday pledged no new taxes. The next day, Arthur Burns met with the President for what the White House described as "a private meeting."

Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, has his doubts as to whether inflation can be fought solely on the basis of balancing the budget and making borrowing too expensive, which is his job at the Fed.

So Burns discloses to a House committee on Wednesday that the President would be "sympathetic" to a new tax increase, to force Americans to save their money instead of throwing it on the inflation pyre.

Arthur Burns is a man the President does not want to offend, because co-ordination between fiscal and monetary policies really is essential.

So one can almost hear Laird's soothing advice to the President. One can almost see his grin as he says "Let me take care of this one, boss."

He trots out to the press room, unloads a prospectus for a Rube Goldberg device of "deferred" tax payments, then leaves, having presumably mollified Burns with the news that the President is seriously considering such an anti-inflation idea.

But in Tokyo, George Shultz, Secretary of the Treasury and President Nixon's chief economic adviser and chief economic spokesman made Mel Laird look less like Merlin and more like the court jester.

Laird can "keep his cotton-pickin' hands off economic policy," said Shultz, as he was interrupted during vital trade negotiations with the Japanese. Shultz put down Burns, too, suggesting that both he and Laird follow the President's economic policy — woeful as it may be — and "not keep sharpshooting it week after week."

George Shultz, a former academic, is a candid man in an administration of be-foggers and traducers.

In the valley of the blind, he too is a one-eyed king, but his realm is one of blunt honesty, not back-slapping politics.

At least for the moment, score it for Shultz by a TKO.

Tennis, anyone?

The day of tea and crumpet tennis is over. It is doubtful now whether we will ever witness a major match in silence, broken only by polite hand clapping at the conclusion of a point. Men players will no longer be dressed neatly in their white tennis shoes, shorts and short-sleeve shirts. Girl players will also forsake their neat skirts and shorts. Even the tennis balls, we are sure, will take on new color.

Billie Jean King and Bobby Riggs have changed all of this.

It wouldn't surprise us at all at the next Wimbledon match if we don't hear rooting and hollering for a favored player throughout the match as we heard in the famed King-Riggs match the other evening. Spectators will no doubt carry signs, wear shirts with the names of their favorites, organize rooting sections and card sections, bring bands. Concessionnaires will no doubt hawk hot dogs and beer in place of the dollar a cardboard cup champagne served at the Riggs-King match.

Tennis balls will be of different hues. Players will wear their sponsor's product on the seat of their pants and anywhere else they can collect a $20,000 fee.

Physical therapists, trainers and coaches will be on the sidelines between games to administer Gatorade, rub muscles and wipe perspiring brows.

In other words, major tennis matches will be comparable to major boxing matches. It is that kind of a game.

We saw all of this at the famed televised match of King and Riggs, even to the showing on the screen of the measurements of both players. We were surprised that they didn't have the public weigh-in.

But it is obvious that the formula works well. Wimbledon never drew that many spectators in person nor, we suspect, that many viewers on television in its entire history.

Tennis is in and it is in because Riggs and King have made it so.

THOUGHTS WHILE SHAVING

Here's one for golfers. A couple of golfers were discussing a fight over at the golf links the other day. "Why did Tom assault the golf pro?" one asked. "The pro was giving him some instructions and suggested that he go through the motions without hitting the ball." "But why did Tom attack him?" "Because,"

Common ground by Steve La Rue

Valley smog lid

You'd hardly know it from living here, but meteorological studies indicate that rural, breezy Lompoc sits under an almost constant atmospheric lid, screwed down tighter than the smothering smog lid over the Los Angeles basin and creating just as serious a potential air pollution problem here.

In fact, a semi-constant inversion layer standing over the whole elbow of California, from Santa Barbara to Morro Bay, is lower than any other on the entire west coast of the continent.

These conclusions were made both by an atmospheric study conducted here by the Navy and one referred to in the Encyclopedia Britannica. From 1960 through 1965, the Navy released a total of three atmospheric balloons per calendar date from Point Arguello in order to gather an in depth picture of local weather. What they ran into was a low, steady inversion layer, the same that keeps fog from blowing away on overcast days, the same that sometimes keeps the valley hazy with smoke after a brush fire in the hills, the same that is plainly detailed in the Britannica section on inversions.

Hot air rises. Cold falls. Normally, air gets colder the higher up it is. When you have a layer of air that is warmer than air layers below it, this is called an inversion layer. Rising air from the ground, frequently containing smog, can not rise through layers of warmer air. So, when there is an inversion layer condition, this rising ground air and the smog collect until the layer is disturbed, as by a turbulent winter storm.

According to Dr. Jean Michels, a Lompoc physician and former credentialed professional meteorologist, this area's inversion layer comes about this way:

A vast, perennial high pressure mass of cold, dense air dominates the Pacific, resembling a great bell in vast cross section. Air "leaks out" of this system around the groundward rim of the bell, causing the rest of the dense mass to the other golfer said, that's exactly the trouble Tom has been trying to overcome."...We have been invited to be kidnapped next Thursday by members of the Junior Alpha Club. They will be seeking ransom for our release with the ransom to go to the Lompoc Boys and Girls Club. We're not sure anyone will pay our ransom and on second thought, those Junior Alpha Club members are very pretty ladies and it is just possible we won't want to be ransomed...That tax initiative proposition that Governor Reagan has qualified for the Nov. 6 ballot certainly has resulted in a flood of mail from the proponents and opponents to our desk. As with most propositions, this was definitely a complicated one.

subside. This subsidence compresses and therefore heats lower air levels to higher temperatures than those of rising ground level air by the time it reaches their altitude. The lid is then in place: a subsidence inversion.

Lompoc's constant daytime breezes help cool the ground air, accentuating the effectiveness of the inversion, and on cool, overcast days not even they are enough to carry Lompoc's also constant fog out of the valley because of the inversion.

The average height of the base of our local inversion layer is 1,400 feet, and for at least half of the year it's another 1,400 feet thick.

The Navy found the frequency of the local lid to approximate 93 per cent in May through September and 41 per cent for the rest of the year. Stagnant August registered a 100 per cent inversion layer month, stormy March had one only 9 per cent of the time.

By comparison, the Los Angeles layer is an average of 1,600 feet in altitude at its base, allowing more room than the Lompoc layer, but is only a little thicker. Thickness is a measure of inversions impermeability.

There are breezes in Santa Monica, just as there are in Lompoc, but these are low level breezes and not strong enough, in Dr. Michels opinion, to do more than herd valley smog a little to the east. Also like the L.A. Basin, she says, an evening land wind condition blows the other way and would bring valley pollution back toward the coast. But our breeze does not disturb our atmospheric lid; it helps it, in fact, by keeping the ground level air cooler and less able to rise.

Of course, it's not as smoggy here as in Los Angeles because there is far less pollution generated here per area as there is there. But the verified existence of a formidable and steady inversion layer here tells us that our air basin has only so much capacity to dissipate air pollution and recommends an iron clad limit on smog producing developments here.

Exactly what that capacity is and what should be that limit must be a priority question in all local planning.
